

"GYPSIES" GOING TO CALIFORNIA

GOING FROM ALL PARTS OF THE U. S. TO ESTABLISH "SIRN-HATCH." NEAR COAST CITY.

By the Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Romany tribes, commonly known as "Gypsies," are traveling toward California from all parts of the United States with the avowed purpose of establishing a "sirnahatch" or permanent sacred encampment at Emeryville, across the bay from San Francisco, officials of the east bay cities believe.

In possession of the tribal leaders, who came to the coast to attend the recent marriage of George Adams, head of one tribe, and "Gypsy" Mary, who said she was an Egyptian princess, were found telegrams from headquarters of six tribes scattered throughout the country. These contained but two words, "Amen avasa," or "We come." They were said to be replies to a country-wide call for the gathering of the gypsy clans.

Not all of the gypsies are included in the movement. The response is confined to the more religious element who still cling to the tradition that one day they would take the road to the land of promise by "the great water," the ultimate home of the wanderers on the Pacific Coast.

Fifteen thousand men and women and their boys and girls, are estimated to be on their way here. Lesko Amenja, head of a Greek gypsy band, and others, have made inquiries as to state laws on municipal organization and the residents of Emeryville, who are said to be apprehensive that the gypsies will have sufficient voting power to take control of the town, now a city of 2,700 population.

The bands are reported to have adopted a central flag designed at Chicago by one of their leaders. It is a green banner bearing the legend "Borodiro Slivety"—"A great People." Involved in the migration to this coast are gypsies of the Turkish, Rumanian, Hungarian, German, Moravian, Lithuanian, Russian, Greek, Bohemian, Italian and Spanish tribes.

SUPREME JUDGE AND U. S. ATTORNEY RESIGN

By News' Special Service
The resignation of Thomas H. Owen as chief justice of the state supreme court is forecast on what is considered good authority and a report from Muskogee.

W. P. McGinnis, United States attorney for the eastern district of Oklahoma, has announced his resignation, effective January 1, according to a Muskogee report, and he will form a partnership with Justice Owen in this city, it is said. Owen is in Muskogee now and could not be reached to confirm the report. He went to Muskogee Monday and will not return until Sunday.

It is understood Justice Owen will not leave the bench until next June. Alvin Maloney, an assistant to McGinnis, also will resign January 1, it is said. Justice Owen succeeded Summers Hardy as chief justice about six months ago. If he should resign, a successor will be elected by the justices and a new justice appointed by the governor.

FORGERY CHARGES FILED AGAINST TWO

Glover Odom and George Townsend were arraigned before Justice Anderson yesterday on charges of second degree forgery. They are charged jointly with passing a forged check on Sam Kasheer, a Syrian peddler, the check amounting to $25.00. They were bound over to the district court and their bonds were fixed at $1,000 each. Townsend was arraigned on another second degree forgery charge. In this case he is charged with passing a forged check for $5.00 on a merchant at Stonewall. His bond in this case was fixed at $1,000. Neither Odom nor Townsend had given bond this morning and are in the county jail.

Minority Report On League Put Up To Senate Today

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Rejection of the peace treaty with the league of nations covenant, or the adoption of amendments, would mean the sacrifice by the United States of all the concessions obtained from Germany under a dictated peace, minority members of the foreign relations committee declared in a report presented to the senate.

The report, prepared by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democrat of the committee, urged speedy ratification of the treaty without amendments or reservations. The report decries "the long and unnecessary delay to which the treaty has been subjected while locked in the committee whose recommendations were from the start a foregone conclusion," and it is suggested that these recommendations could have been made in July.

Senator Shields, democrat, of Tennessee, did not sign the report, having announced that he favored the reservations to the league covenant prepared by chairman Lodge. It was stated, however, that he would not present a separate report. The other senators signing the minority report in addition to Senator Hitchcock were Williams of Miss., Swanson of Virginia, Pomeroy of Ohio, Smith of Arizona and Pittman of Nevada, all democrats.

The minority report denied the claim put forth in Chairman Lodge's report that the peace conference still was in session and has power to bring the German representatives again to Paris, declaring that such power had been exhausted and that Germany "had closed the chapter by signing and ratifying the treaty."

"If the amended treaty is not signed by Germany," the minority report added, "then it is not binding on her." The report mentioned twelve concessions the United States would lose by failure to ratify the treaty, these including industrial and economic advantages and agreements.

Reservations proposed by the majority, the report said, were "for the purpose of destroying the league which had stood the test of world-wide criticism and unlimited attack."

NEW ORLEANS WEATHER BUREAU REPORTS STORM

By the Associated Press
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—Northeastern storm warnings were expected west as far as Morgan City on the Louisiana coast by the local weather bureau today. Northerly winds, it was stated, will increase this afternoon and tonight, probably reaching gale proportions in southern Louisiana. No information had been received here early today to determine the course of the hurricane.

BOSTON RIOTING BRINGS 5 DEATHS

THAT MANY KILLED LAST NIGHT IN REIGN OF LAWLESSNESS DUE TO POLICE STRIKE.

By the Associated Press
BOSTON, Sept. 11.—The death today of a young woman, believed to be Miss Margaret Walsh, brought the number of last night's riot victims to five. The young woman was shot during the disturbance in the south Boston district where the national guards today fired into a crowd. Another death occurred when Raymond Bayers, of Cambridge, tried to escape from the state guards who had rounded up a group of seventy-five participants in a dice game on Boston Common.

Governor Cullidge today wired the secretary of the navy a request that naval troops be held in readiness to supply additional troops for Boston. With six regiments of state guards under arms the governor had mobilized all the forces at his command.

Nearly a score of persons, including four women, were injured as a result of the activities of the state troops in policing the city last night. Success in putting down the rioting and suppressing the looting marked their efforts to a large degree, although in some sections the mobs were not put under control.

NORMAL PLANS TO SEE THE PRESIDENT

ENROLLMENT AT NORMAL IS ABOVE THE AVERAGE. URGED TO ATTEND SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Chapel exercises were held at the Normal this morning for the first time of the present term. Almost three hundred students assembled, being one of the most promising openings of the school for the last decade. The students are more mature than they have been in the past, indicating, so the authorities say, that the local schools are doing better work and are sending students to the Normal only after they have been graduated from their local high schools.

The devotional exercises this morning were conducted by Rev. C. V. Dunn of the Christian church. Miss Kittell, the new piano instructor, rendered several piano solos, which were enthusiastically received. Miss Kittell comes with a string of musical successes in her career.

Prof. M. L. Perkins appealed to the students to become identified with one of the Sunday schools of the city and thus improve themselves along religious and moral lines as well as the purely academic lines.

President J. M. Gordon told of the arrangements which have been made for the special train to Oklahoma City two weeks from Friday in order that the students may meet President Wilson. The train will leave here early in the morning and will return that night after President Wilson has delivered his address on the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations. It is expected that almost every student will take this opportunity to hear the Chief Executive tell of the aims and aspirations of those who framed the treaty at Paris.

The enrollment at the Normal is as large as ever before in the history of the school at this time of the year. Many more teachers will be in attendance when the summer schools close.

The People of Key West Survey the Storm Wreckage

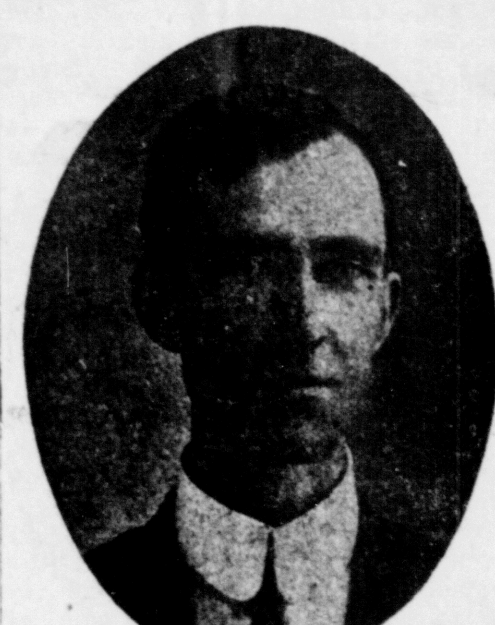

By the Associated Press
KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 11.—With daylight today, following the storm of yesterday and a night of darkness, the people of Key West and surrounding territory were able for the first time to survey the destruction wrought by the hurricane that swept through here Tuesday night. Not a house in the city escaped damage, and many were totally wrecked. The harbor presents a tangled mass of fishing vessels and other small craft, but the latest reports failed to show any deaths other than the four divers lost on the harbor dredge Grampus.

The British tanker Tonawanda, which had broken her moorings, was reported not in bad condition. In addition to the temporary stoppage of gas and electric service telephone service was suspended and newspapers were forced to suspend publication.

A wireless message received here early this morning said that forty-five persons were adrift off the coast about fifteen miles from Miami. All were reported in distress and without food and water. Boats have left here to bring them in.

BIG PEACE ARMY FLAYED BY WOOD

By News' Special Service
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—"There is no necessity for an army of more than 250,000 in peace time," Major General Leonard Wood declared this afternoon before the military affairs committee of the senate. He was speaking upon the army reorganization plan, proposed by the war department and providing for an army of more than half a million men.

"Universal training should be made a part of our military policy and once in force it would be possible to reduce the regular army," General Wood said. "We should prepare and hold in reserve supplies and equipment for a force of four million men." General Wood advocates an independent air service, a small tank corps, and increases in coast defenses. An officers' reserve of not less than 120,000 should be maintained, General Wood said. We should build up our reserves and reduce our regular army."

BOLSHEVIK FORCES CAPTURE 12,000 OF THEIR OPPONENTS

By the Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 11.—A Bolshevik wireless dispatch from Mekow today claims the capture of nearly twelve thousand prisoners from Admiral Kolshak's all Russian forces in the region of Akutbin-Skorsk. It is declared that the remainder of Kolshak's southern army is expected to surrender.

FRIDAY "ADA DAY" AT COUNTY FAIR

MAYOR ASKS ALL CITIZENS TO VISIT THE FAIR GROUNDS AND VIEW THE DIFFERENT EXHIBITS.

Recognizing the importance of the Pontotoc County Fair and desiring to see the citizens of Ada contribute in every possible way to make the fair a success, Mayor Kitchens this morning issued the following proclamation:

Mayor's Proclamation.
The best fair ever held in Pontotoc county is now open at the fair grounds at Ada. The best exhibits ever collected in this county are being shown to visitors, and the collection of these exhibitions represents a great deal of trouble and expense on the part of the fair management and of the different exhibitors.

The splendid array of livestock, agricultural, and other exhibits, illustrates in a wonderful way the possibilities of Pontotoc county. It is well for all citizens to visit the fair and witness the fine products of the county for the present year. It will be gratifying for them to understand the substantial progress made by this county along the lines indicated by the various exhibits.

The material prosperity of Ada as a city is closely joined with the development and prosperity of our livestock and agricultural interests. It therefore becomes the duty of Ada citizens to assist in every possible way to develop these interests and to encourage in every possible way those whose industry and brought about the present development and who have taken the trouble to present their products at the county fair.

For the foregoing reasons we believe that every citizen of Ada should attend the fair as much as possible in order to lend encouragement to the management and exhibitors and to assist in making the present fair a pronounced success.

Now therefore, I, Gary Kitchens, Mayor of the City of Ada, do hereby proclaim Friday, September 12, as "Ada Day" at the county fair, and do urge every citizen of Ada to make a special effort to leave his business and duties for a part of that day at least and visit the fair grounds to view the exhibits and lend assistance in making the fair a success. All the citizens of Ada are respectfully urged to set aside a part of "Ada Day" to the purpose of visiting the fair grounds.

Given under my hand, this the 11th day of September, 1919.
GARY KITCHENS, Mayor.

It was a late hour last night when the last of the exhibits got by the secretary of the county fair and reached the display tables or stalls. The number of exhibits was so much greater than had been expected that the secretary soon found himself swamped and it took considerable time for him to get thru with the entries.

The work of judging began this morning at 11 o'clock. The first line of exhibits to pass before the judges was the hogs. The other live stock is being judged this afternoon. The first races were pulled off according to program this afternoon.

The tractor show in the stubble-field just south of the fair grounds is attracting considerable attention. Numerous tractors are plowing up the stubble and showing what machinery can do on the farm. Some of the tractors exhibited are of baby size, but pull plows along as if many mules were ahead of the plows.

Among the school exhibits that from Homer is attracting attention. The different articles in this exhibit are displayed in a most artistic manner and present a handsome appearance. Some of the school exhibits altho containing many fancy articles are not arranged in a manner to get the best effect.

There was much disappointment among the fans when it was learned that the three-game series between Allen and Henryetta had been called off. For some reason Henryetta could not play the game and the series has been cancelled. The fans had been expecting three very exciting games and are sorely disappointed that Henryetta has seen fit to renege.

All space reserved for the Boys' Club exhibits at the fair have been taken and full exhibits are on display. There are thirteen departments of the boys' club work and every department is represented at the fair. This means that twenty-six Pontotoc county lads will attend the state fairs at Oklahoma City and Muskogee.

The winner of the first prize in each department is given a free trip to the fair at Oklahoma City, while those who win second prize receive a free trip to Muskogee. The exhibits entered by the clubs at the county fair are among the very best shown.

Saturday will be "Soldiers and Sailors' Day" at the fair, according to (Continued on Page Eight.)

Full Weights and Measures Will Help Cut H. C. of L.

In cutting the high cost of living one of the important points that the consumer must insist upon with food, fuel and textile merchants is a fair system of weights and measures.

The United States bureau of standards has established certain standards of weight, measurement, time, etc., by which all other measures are gauged and corrected. In addition each state determines for itself certain regulations of weights and measures to govern the sale of articles within state boundaries. Each housewife should familiarize herself with the regulations in her state, should supply herself with a reliable scale for weighing purchases, and then keep a careful eye upon her purchases to see that dealers are conforming to state laws.

Laws differ in each state, but the standards adopted in Chicago are fairly typical. For instance there is a standard for bread to which all bakers must conform. A light-weight loaf should be reported at once to the local department of weights and measures, or to the state department that the consumer may be protected against short weights.

In Chicago, a one-pound loaf is the standard. Each loaf must have affixed to it a label, 1 inch square, stating the weight of the loaf and the name of the baker of manufacturer. Those selling bread must weigh it in the presence of the purchaser if requested to do so.

The standards for milk and cream require that the cover or cap of every bottle must bear in indelible letters the name of the person or firm bottling the milk and must be marked with the bottle's exact capacity.

Persons or firms selling ice must sell it by avoirdupois weight, and it must be weighed at the time of delivery by the delivery man on scales adjusted and sealed by the inspector of weights and measures.

For fuel, the driver or delivery man must be provided with a ticket bearing the name of the seller of the fuel, and marked with the net weight of the fuel ordered by the purchaser. If the buyer so demands the fuel must be reweighed in his presence on a scale designated by the city inspector of weights and measures.

All ear corn, potatoes, coal, large fruits, vegetables and other bulky articles sold by dry measure (quart) peck, or bushel, shall be sold by heaped measure, according to the Chicago standards.

Every consumer is required to pay in full for the goods he purchases and should require from the merchants full weight and measure of the goods bought.

TRUCE DECLARED IN CHICKASHA

FOUR MEN RESPOND TO CALL AND STREET CAR SERVICE IS RESUMED AT CHICKASHA.

CHICKASHA, Okla., Sept. 10.—Responding to an emergency call, four carmen returned to work on the Chickasha street railway this morning and operation of the cars was resumed at 12 o'clock today.

The men returned to work with the understanding that the Chickasha chamber of commerce would exert every influence to bring about a settlement satisfactory to both the strikers and the company. If arrangements are not made within ten days, which will be after the opening of the state college for women and the Grady county free fair, the carmen are at liberty to quit, according to the agreement with the chamber of commerce, which issued the emergency call.

Endurance Test.

Two brothers, seven and nine, were competing daily, and it seemed that the little one always commenced the fuss, and always got the worst of it, and then cried over it. When asked why he started things when he knew he would get hurt, the little fellow replied: "Well, I made up my mind a long time ago that some day I was going to be big enough to whip brother, and how am I going to know when I am if I don't try it every day to see?"

Hindu children are remarkable for their precocity. Many of them are skilled workmen at an age when the children of other nations are learning the alphabet. A boy of seven may be a skilled wood-carver, while some of the handsomest rugs are woven by children not yet in their teens.

POLISH CHILDREN LIVE ON HARDTACK

CONSIDERED A HARD RATION FOR SOLDIERS IN EMERGENCIES NOW EATEN BY CHILDREN.

By News' Special Service
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Starving children in Poland and other war torn countries of Europe are gratefully eating hardtack to assuage their almost constant hunger.

Hardtack to the average American is vaguely associated with strenuous campaigns as an emergency ration for soldiers and sailors, certainly not as food for little children. Yet, the mere fact that the hard, unsalted, kiln-dried crackers were placed at distributing points, attracted double the usual number of small folks, according to Dr. Boris D. Bogen, head of American Jewish Relief work in Poland, in a report made public here today by the American Jewish Relief Committee.

"This, however, does not tell the story," said Dr. Bogen. "One must see the hundreds and hundreds of children gathered at the doors of the stations waiting—waiting—with eager, hungry faces, I do not understand how people, anywhere, can be quiet and content, when thousands of little children are continuously hungry."

Dr. Bogen referred specifically to conditions in Poland to the east of the Bug River where automobiles trucks are being used to transport hardtack and condensed milk to the children.

"The food situation east of the Bug River continues to be desperate," said he. "I am receiving almost daily reports of lack of food in the districts of Vilna, Lida and especially Baranowicz and Pinsk. These are the places where we are now using automobile delivery of hardtack and milk to the little ones. This work has been exceedingly useful but unfortunately we did not receive in time all the equipment for the automobile trucks and consequently we are not able to run them all and cover all the territory. I expect that during the month of July 200,000 Jewish children were fed through the medium of the Children's Relief Bureau."

BOYLE WILL FILE PETITION TODAY

By News' Special Service
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 11.—Ed Boyle, state mine inspector, announced yesterday that he will file with the secretary of state today a copy of his petition for submission of a constitutional amendment to place oil and gas conservation regulations back in his department.

The gist of the amendment, as stated in the petition which Boyle will file, is:
The gist of the proposition is to amend section 25 of Article VI of the state constitution to be known as section 15 of said article, providing that the chief mine inspector shall have the exclusive power and making it his duty to enforce all laws in regard to mines and mining and the drilling for oil or gas, and the conservation of these natural resources and the inspection of refined products of petroleum, and conferring exclusive jurisdiction of all such matters upon the chief mine inspector, and prohibiting the legislature from transferring any of such duties to any other agency of the state government.

TAR AND FEATHERS FOR PROFITEERS

By News' Special Service
DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 10.—A coat of tar and feathers or the whipping post is threatened for profiteers in a "proclamation" received today by a local newspaper, signed by "vigilantes of Dallas." ## SCOTLAND'S LABOR FORCES AGAINST DIRECT ACTION

By the Associated Press
GLASGOW, Sept. 11.—By a comparatively close vote, the trades union council in session here today voted down a resolution declaring against the principle of direct action. The vote was 2,255,000 against the resolution and 2,086,000 in favor of it.

"Johnny" Pershing Going Back to His Boyhood Home To Pay "Boys" a Visit

By the Associated Press

LACLEDE, Mo., Sept. 11.—General Pershing is coming back to his boyhood home here.

He will return a full fledged general, the hero of America, but to the boyhood companions with whom he stood apples, and played at the old swimmin' hole, it will be the "Johnny" Pershing who spent his early life here before going away to West Point to embark on a military career.

A cablegram received by Mayor Edmund B. Allen promises a visit by the general shortly after his arrival in the United States.

Some time ago when Laclede learned that General Pershing was returning from Europe the following cablegram was despatched to him by Mayor Allen:

"Laclede, your old home, your boyhood friends and Linn County are calling you. When may we expect you home?"

General Pershing cabled in reply: "I have heard the call. Will be there soon after my arrival in the United States. Can't give you definite date now but will let you know later."

Laclede will pay tribute to General Pershing on his arrival, not with the pomp and ceremony that marked his reception in European capitals, but with a "good old fashioned Missouri home-coming," according to the committee arranging for his reception.

Plans for the general's entertainment include reunions with old school mates and chums, trips to the old swimmin' hole on Muddy Creek and to the old Pershing farm.

The homecoming will also mark a reunion of the Pershing family, James Pershing, of Chicago, the general's brother, and Miss May Pershing and Mrs. Bessie Butler, of Lincoln, Neb., his two sisters, will gather at the former Pershing home during the general's stay.

The reception will not be without a military side. Decorated heroes of Missouri will form an honor guard. Adjutant General H. C. Clark, of Missouri, will have charge of the military reception.

Governor Frederick D. Gardner will deliver an address at the celebration and other state and national officials have been invited to attend.

Among old acquaintances who will greet General Pershing are "Aunt" Susan Hewett, who made pies for him when he romped barefoot around the countryside and "Aunt" Louisa Warren, who claims to have been present when the future military leader was born in a railroad section house several miles from here. Both are negroes.

BEEFSTEAK WILL BE $1.00 A POUND

SO SAYS NATIONAL LIVE STOCK MAN, WHO TAKES ISSUE WITH HERBERT C. HOOVER.

By the Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 10.—Declaring that the course of Attorney General Palmer is "directed right at the producer," and taking issue with Herbert C. Hoover, former food administrator, J. H. Mercer, secretary of the Kansas Livestock Association and president of the National Livestock Shippers' League, today issued a statement commenting on Mr. Hoover's recent Paris statement indorsing the course being pursued by Attorney General Palmer on the ground that a surplus of food supplies exists in the United States, and that the prospective supplies for the next twelve months are fully equal to the need.

"Forecasting an 'enforced producers' strike,' which will result in a 'nation-wide meat famine' when beefsteak 'will be hard to get at a dollar a pound,'" Mr. Mercer warns the consuming public that this result may be expected "if the government's drive on high prices of food stuffs cuts the present prices of livestock on the hoof." He says the beef situation is "critical."

"The elements which enter into the food supply of America," continued Mr. Mercer, "are wheat, barley, corn, oats, cotton, beef, pork and mutton. If there is a shortage of any one of these food stuffs the food supply of the United States is lessened thereby to just the extent that that particular food or meat enters into use as food."

"Take the wheat crop for instance. We are at least 40 per cent short of the estimated crop, due to the light yield of the entire acreage in this country."

"The corn crop will be far short of normal, even though the yield is fair, for the reason that the corn acreage has been greatly reduced this year."

"The oats crop is about normal and though there will be little more barley for direct consumption than heretofore, the acreage is not greater enough to materially increase the food supply."

"Due to an extensive campaign for decreased cotton acreage in the south, there will be a great shortage in the supply of cotton seed, cake, meal, etc., which are a big factor in the production of beef throughout the west. Therefore, this shortage will be reflected in a decrease in the weight of all beefs marketed."

"The beef situation is critical. I know that we are not overproduced and that the supply in the next year will not nearly equal the demand. Statistics at the principal market centers show that we have marketed 500,000 less cattle in 1919 than in 1918, and if this shortage figures in pounds it would amount to about 15 per cent decrease in weights. The big loss in weight is due to the high price of feed. Cattle are not being finished this year as in 1918."

"There was an over-production of pork in 1918 but there is a great decrease in the number of hogs on the farms today as compared with a year ago. Multiplied thousands of hogs have been prematurely marketed at from 100 to 200 pounds on account of the continual advance in feed prices."

"There has been an increase in the number of sheep in the United States but they are being marketed light and the demand is greater than the supply."

"Viewing the food situation from every angle, I cannot see but that Mr. Hoover is entirely wrong. Great man that he is, I believe that he has given out this Paris statement without being acquainted with the conditions at home. The farmers and stockmen of this country listened to him with confidence in the past and have hoped that he was the man to whom they could look for protection against an emergency as now confronts them. In fact, the Kansas and Missouri stockmen had recently asked that he be again placed in charge of the food supplies, but for him to say now that Attorney General Palmer is on the right track, that he has adopted the right course—seems to me almost unbelievable."

"Palmer's course is directed right at the producer. His every act is aimed at the prices of farm products and already his seizures have caused a panicky condition among farmers and stockmen, which, if permitted to gain headway, will bring a flood of unfinished cattle, hogs and sheep on the markets and disaster to the livestock industry. Further ruinous prices to stockmen will mean starvation for thousands a year hence. The American farmer cannot undergo another slump in prices such as occurred early this summer, and continue the production of livestock."

"I want to warn the consuming public that if the government drive on high prices of food stuffs cuts the present prices of live stock on the hoof, there will be an enforced producers' strike which will result in a nation-wide meat famine and beefsteak will be hard to get at a dollar a pound."

Ignorance Is the Devil of the World

To be ignorant is not to be alive, except as the animals live.

And for ignorance there is no necessity, and no excuse except utter mental dullness.

A college education is not necessary, nothing is necessary except ability to read intelligently and desire to know.

And age makes no difference, except that the untrained mind past forty retains facts with difficulty. But love of knowledge makes up for that.

Among the really learned men of the world the greatest have learned more after thirty than before thirty. For the THINKING that you do is the really important part of education, and sound thinking comes after thirty.

If you have not a good education, you can get it at no cost. It is all in the books, and inspiration and happiness as well.

Says Profit Sharing on Frank and Fair Basis Only Solution of Unrest

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Profit-sharing on a frank and fair basis was declared to be the only solution of the present industrial unrest in a speech delivered at the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation here today by George W. Perkins.

Mr. Perkins said he was convinced that labor was entirely willing that capital should have its "fair reward and proper protection" but that there were too many instances in which capital had demanded "improper protection and had taken exorbitant reward."

At the same time Mr. Perkins denounced bonus systems as doing more harm than good and as stirring up trouble rather than alleviating it. The giving of bonuses, he claimed, caused employees to feel that the employers were making vast sums of money out of which a sop was thrown to them to bribe them into feeling kindly disposed or to ward off a demand for a general increase in wages.

As an alternative Mr. Perkins proposed a definite detailed scheme of profit-sharing which he said had been adopted by some companies with which he was connected and had proved most successful. He described this plan as follows:

"First: Every business has, first of all, to earn operating expenses, depreciation, and fair returns on honest capitalization."

"Second: I believe that every business should consider that the compensation paid employees is for the purpose of earning a sum of money sufficient to pay the above-mentioned items."

"Third: I believe that any profits over and above such sum should, on some percentage basis, be divided between the capital used in the business and the employees engaged in the business."

"Fourth: I believe that in neither case should these profits be immediately withdrawn from the business; that they should be left in the business for a reasonable length of time, to protect and increase its financial strength and safety; that, in the case of capital, its share of these profits should be carried to surplus; that, in the case of employees, their share of these profits should be distributed to them in some form of security representing an interest in the business, and that each employee should be required to hold such security for a reasonable length of time, say three to five years."

"Fifth: I believe that the employees' share of these profits should be allotted to them as nearly as possible on the basis of the compensation they receive. Up to date, this has proved to be the best method."

The employer who objects to profit-sharing because he is making so much money "that he is afraid to let even his own employees know how much money he is making" was declared by the speaker to be "more than any other, responsible for the serious differences today existing between capital and labor for, with the growing intelligence of the masses, how can he expect such a situation to continue? Every year, every day, it becomes clearer and clearer that such a condition will no longer be tolerated and must speedily pass away. Would it not be better for him to use some intelligent foresight and meet what clearly are to be the immediate future demands of public opinion?"

Mr. Perkins said that the history of the relations between labor and capital could be traced through the terms successively used to denote the man who worked for a wage and the man who paid the wage. First it was "owner and slave," then it became "master and man," today it is "employer and employ" and tomorrow, Mr. Perkins declared he believed "it must be 'partners.'" In conclusion he said:

"Since the beginning of time no country has ever had such an opportunity to extend its trade, increase its prosperity and better the material condition of every one of its people as has the United States of America at this hour. The only factor missing is that of close co-operation here at home among ourselves. It seems inconceivable that we will fail to realize where our weakness lies and fail to adopt the one and only remedy for it. In the strenuous competition with the rest of the world that this country is on the eve of facing could we have a stronger weapon than complete co-operation between capital and labor at home?"

DUBINSKY TENT SHOW MAKES ADA NEXT WEEK

Announcement has been made by a representative of Dubinsky's Tent & Theater Company that this popular organization will return to Ada for a week's engagement, starting Monday, Sept. 15. Dubinsky Bros. have played Ada many times in the past and always presented excellent shows. There are twenty-five people in the cast including a jazz orchestra of seven pieces. The performance will undergo a complete change each night. The opening play announced for Monday, Sept. 15, is a new comedy drawn of youth bearing the title, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Dubinsky is one of the most popular shows that has made Ada in the past and large crowds always see the several performances. The bill for next week is up to the popular standard of the company and is worth seeing and enjoying.

SEPTEMBER 26 A STATE HOLIDAY

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION DECLARING HOLIDAY IN HONOR OF PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO STATE.

WHEREAS, the early ratification of the Treaty of Peace, including the League of Nations Covenant, is the most important and far-reaching public question that has confronted the American people in the life of the nation, and,

WHEREAS, the President of the United States was one of the foremost figures at the Peace Conference, in the negotiations of that Treaty, and,

WHEREAS, by reason of the bitter controversies that have arisen in the United States senate over the provisions of that document, the President has deemed it wise to present to the people of the country in person, his reasons for advocating the adoption without amendment, of the Treaty as agreed upon by the Peace Conference, and,

WHEREAS, the people of Oklahoma are to have an opportunity on September 26th, 1919, at Oklahoma City, to hear the Nation's Chief Magistrate present an analysis of the Treaty provisions and the League of Nations, now.

THEREFORE, I, J. B. A. Robertson, as Governor of the State, urge the people of Oklahoma, without regard to political divisions, lay aside on that day their labor and business and proceed to the State Capitol to welcome President Woodrow Wilson and show our respect for his high office and hear at first hand of the merits and purposes of that Great Contract between all Nations which carries in its provisions the hopes of all mankind for a future of peace and human liberty.

Let us consecrate that day to the study of a subject that so intimately concerns the lives and happiness of ourselves, our children and our children's children.

Given under my hand and attested by the Great Seal of the State on this the 9th day of September, 1919.

J. B. A. ROBERTSON,
Governor of Oklahoma.
Attest: Joe S. Morris,

TRAINING SCHOOL OF NORMAL OPENS TUESDAY

The Training School of the Normal school will not begin until next Tuesday owing to the fact that the new adopted books have not come. The work is now being organized and will begin at that time. There is yet room for students in each grade and applications will be received up to Tuesday morning. Heretofore, many applicants have had to be rejected because of the crowded conditions and some parents come to feel that there would likely not be room. Children will be accommodated in the order of their application. M. L. PERKINS, Director.

Listen, FARMERS!

Here is some land that I want to sell you. Doubtless you have been trying to farm in the western part of this and other counties where the rainfall is just about half sufficient to make your crops. These lands are in the eastern part of Pontotoc and western part of Coal, where it always rains and crop failures are unknown.

No. 1—145 acres, nice, level land; 125 in cultivation, balance pasture; plenty of water and one of the best farm houses and barn in the county; this land will raise anything and is one of the best farms in the county; location one mile south of Ahlosa; known as the W. E. Miller place. Price $85.00

No. 2—195 acres, nice, black land; has good 4-room residence and good barn; plenty of water; has some good alfalfa land on place; this place will raise anything from alfalfa to peanuts; it has about 50 acres of good pasture on it and some timber; this place cannot be beat for a stock and farming proposition. Price $62.50.

No. 3—90 acres of fine farming land, near Stonewall; 65 acres of alfalfa bottom in cultivation; land is located on Ada-Stonewall Highway and is a dandy; the improvements are small, but you will remember the old adage, "get the land and you can build the improvements." Price $87.50.

No. 4—50 acres of extra good prairie land, near Stonewall; good improvements; plenty of water; this is a real prairie farm and will make as much corn and cotton to the acre as any bottom land. Price $60.

No. 5—100 acres of level prairie farm land, four miles of Stonewall; small improvements; plenty of water and wood; this farm can be had for $45 per acre, which is a long ways less than it is worth, but there is an estate to wind up and the parties say let it go.

No. 6—45 acres of fine, level valley land; good improvements and plenty of water; this place is all in cultivation and cannot be surpassed in the county for the price; it is just across the road from No. 1. Price $75.

These are all good farms and can be handled on easy terms. I can make you a good loan on any of it. I also have many other real bargains for sale. Call, write or phone me and I will be glad to show you these farms.

POLITICAL, MORAL AND ECO. CHAOS

UNLESS PRODUCTION CAN BE INCREASED THIS IS WHAT HOOVER SEES IN EUROPE.

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 24. Correspondence of the Associated Press.—Unless European productivity can be rapidly increased, there can be nothing but political, moral and economic chaos finally interpreting itself in loss of "life on a scale hitherto undreamed of," says Herbert Hoover, head of the Inter-Allied Relief Commission in an analysis of the situation in Europe just published in the British National Food Journal.

"The entire surplus productivity of the western hemisphere is totally incapable of meeting the present deficiency in European production if it is long continued," the analysis asserts. "Nor could credits be mobilized for this purpose for more than a short period because all credits must necessarily be simply an advance against the return of commodities in exchange and credits will break down the instant that the return of commodities becomes improbable. Further, if such credits be obtained for more than temporary purpose it would result in economic slavery of Europe to the western hemisphere and the ultimate end would be war again."

Mr. Hoover points out this solution of the European economic problem: "A vigorous realization of the actual situation in each country of Europe and a resolute statesmanship based on such a realization—the population of Europe must be brought to a realization that productivity must be instantly increased."

In the present day European ferment, Mr. Hoover says, "every economic patent medicine has flocked under the banner of socialism or communism which has claimed to speak for all the downtrodden—to alone bespeak human sympathy." Experimentation in varying forms of these political leanings—socialism and communism—has so far, in every case, resulted in reduced production, the food controller says.

Europe's threatened coal famine, the analysis says, is due "in the largest degree to the human factor of the limitation of effort."

Western assistance in the form of its devotion of surplus productivity to Europe's needs, "is a service that the western hemisphere must approach with a high sense of human duty and sympathy," concludes Mr. Hoover. "The economic burden on the west should not last more than a year, and can be carried and will be repaid. To affect these results, the resources of the western hemisphere and of Europe must be mobilized."

THE TOWN GOSSIP

By MILTON LESTER

IT WAS after midnight.
AND I'D been in bed.
FOR OVER an hour.
AND I HAD gone asleep.
AND I was awakened.
WHEN THE door creaked.
AND THE wife nudged me.
AND WHISPERED.
"THERE'S SOMEBODY.
"IN THE room."
AND I got scared.
AND WOKE up real hard.
AND LISTENED.
AND SURE enough.
THERE WAS somebody.
MOVING AROUND.
AND WHEN my eyes.
GOT ACCUSTOMED.
TO THE darkness.
I COULD see him.
SLOWLY COMING in.
AND HE stood still.
AND LOOKED over.
TOWARD THE bed.
AND I didn't say a word.
AND DIDN'T move.
AND DIRECTLY.
HE TOOK a step.
TOWARD THE bureau.
AND A board creaked.
AND HE stopped.
AND I could hear him.
BREATHING.
AND THEN.
HE TOOK another step.
TOWARD THE bureau.

AND WENT along.
CAUTIOUSLY.
AND I pretended.
THAT I was asleep.
AND CLOSED my eyes.
AND I could hear him.
MOVING AROUND.
AND ONCE or twice.
IT SEEMED to me.
THAT HE was.
RIGHT CLOSE to me.
AND I let out.
A GENTLE snore.
AND HE seemed satisfied.
AND MOVED over.
TOWARD THE dressing table.
AND FINALLY.
MY WIFE could stand it.
NO LONGER.
AND SHE said:
"IF YOU don't hurry up.
"AND PUT out that cat.
"I'M GOING.
"TO PUT him out myself."
AND I couldn't pretend.
THAT I could asleep.
ANY LONGER.
SO I got up.
AND FOUND him.
AND GRABBED him.
BY THE back of the neck.
AND PUT him.
OUT OF doors.
AND WENT back.
TO BED again.
AND WENT to sleep.

FUSSY ATLANTIC WALRUS.

Pretty Bright for Old Boy Walrus.

"When children come to the zoo," said Mr. Atlantic Walrus, "they look at me, and they say, 'Oh, what a queer head, a queer face, funny flappers or feet or legs or paws or whatever you would call them, and such a very funny skin.'"

"Yes, that is the way they talk to me when they come to the zoo. They don't say these things to my face always, but sometimes behind my back. 'Ha, ha, that's a joke.'"

"The reason it is a joke is because they say things behind my back when I turn my back to them. Pretty bright, for old boy Walrus, pretty bright, pretty bright, I must say."

"But my skin! They talk about it. Now they think it is funny. They think it should be soft like theirs and that I should get quite red-faced after a lot of exercise."

"Wouldn't that be absurd? Could anyone imagine a walrus with soft skin and red cheeks and all of that nonsense?"

"No one could and I wouldn't be so mean as to try to make people all upset by changing my ways."

"Just suppose the keeper should come here and he should find a creature who looked like a child here instead of me! What would he do?"

"Why, the poor dear would be frightened to death. He would say, 'Gracious, Mercy me, did I ever? What ever happened to that child to get in there? I must get it right out.'"

"Then he would discover that I had my good-looking walrus body and that only my head was like a child's. Then he would think he had a terrible fever and that he was going quite foolish. Oh, it would be an awful thing for me to do."

"I would upset things so. I would upset things most horribly. That would be very unkind of me. I would be a naughty walrus if I should do such a thing."

"But I won't do anything like that, no indeed. I will be a nice walrus, a regular walrus just as I have always been. I don't want to look like a child."

"They're foolish things, children, and grown-ups are the same way."

"They think creatures are all right when they're like themselves. They think creatures who don't look like they do look quite queer."

"But oh, what things they do say when they see me. They never fail to speak of my funny flappers and my head. Now my head and my flappers don't seem funny to me, not in the least funny."

"Still they say what a funny-looking creature I am."

"Yes, that is what they say when they look at me. But I am above what they say. In short, I do not pay any attention to them, and I do not lower myself or my walrus dignity by answering them as I could."

"Oh yes, I could bellow at them something like this."

"See the funny children with their queer hair hanging down their backs, and their funny faces with such queer noses and eyes and mouths, and how silly and pink and white they look."

"And how absurd their two legs are. Everyone has two such silly-looking legs with still more foolish-looking feet attached at the other end—at the end of their legs right down on the ground. Yes, they're almost always walking and standing up and then they make such funny sounds."

"Yes, children, you giggle! Oh, how you giggle. If you merely laughed once in a while I wouldn't mind. But you giggle!"

"Imagine a walrus giggling! It is impossible to imagine it! Quite impossible! Absolutely impossible!"

"But I don't say any of these things to them because it is beneath my dignity, as I said before, and I am a dignified, particular walrus."

"I care for clams. I insist upon having them, too, all of the time. I'm very fussy about my food, very. Clams I like and clams I will have. That is why they say that few walruses live in zoos, because they have certain food."

"But I've been here for a good long time, I feel well, and what is more—I am fed clams! Yes, I am!"

Women Voters Dressed
Up and No Place to GoBy Harriet Taylor Upton, President Ohio State Suffrage Ass'n.
In Ohio Suffrage Bulletin.

The women of the United States are on the eve of political enfranchisement. The national amendment will undoubtedly be ratified by 36 states before the election of 1920.

Now that women are ready, the question is where will they go? They are not partisan. They have no political inheritance. They have considered themselves republicans or democrats because their fathers or husbands are but distinctly NOT from any love of the party itself. Where will they go?

To new women voters are shocked at the high cost of living; they know what the trouble is. They know that the men at the head of the great trusts are grinding the people. Everybody knows that, even the children know it. The Sherman anti-trust law was enacted to prevent combination, but it was only enforced on local milk dealers and other helpless groups. Why is this? Because men who are ordinarily brave are not politically brave. The powerful corporations contribute vast sums to the treasuries of the political parties. No politician has the courage to jeopardize his political party and he votes to "investigate" and that is the end of it.

Women care for their families. They know that it is not right for the father to toil unceasingly while the family barely subsists. Women are saying, "If the political parties are now constituted can not be divorced from beef and steel without dying, let them die." Let us get a new party, one that is not afraid.

When men open their state campaigns they have bands and fireworks, and sometimes a little lady falling from a balloon with a parachute—to enthrall the voters. The new voters demand, not bands and fireworks, but lower prices, and the political party which realizes this will be the successful party in the near future.

Again, women are unalterably opposed to war. They said little about it in 1917 because they were powerless and because, in this great land of liberty, not only was the press censored and the lips of men sealed, but people were chloroformed lest they should think. Women were silent observers. They could not help themselves; they sent their sons and prayed and hoped. They were promised a League of Nations, no more wars, no more massacres and slaughter. They were promised a world safe for democracy, safe for the people, for poor people, for women, for children.

Then the proposed covenant for the League of Nations appeared without disarmament—just the same old alliances which have been coming up every hundred years. But perhaps there is something there, you suggest, which the women can't see. Some great statesman will surely point it out, you argue; it must be there. No, it is not there, for the secretary of war recommends universal military training, a large standing army, continued conscription and all other things which make for war.

When women had no power they could only weep, but this is now a day for action, not for tears. The political leaders say that no political party can live which does not accept this so-called League of Nations along with universal training and a standing army and side treaties. Well, let it die.

Why is the present political party in power? Because he kept us out of war.

The new women voter is all dressed up and no where to go. The question is: "Is anyone wise enough to prepare a place for her?"

LET'S ALL GO!

ARMED ISOLATION OR PEACEFUL PARTNERSHIP

From the Oklahoman: The United States must be in a peaceful partnership with the other civilized nations of the world or must occupy a position of armed isolation. President Wilson has made this clear in his speeches on the peace treaty.

There is to be a league of the civilized nations of the world whether the United States goes in, or not. It is to be a league, not for the purpose of righting war, but organized with the intention of preventing war. It is to be a league for arbitration of international disputes, a principle which the United States already has recognized in many cases.

If the United States enters the league, it will agree to the principle of arbitration, but at the same time it will have the privilege of helping formulate the principles for international intercourse. It also will help decide methods for the enforcement of international law.

If the United States does not enter the league of nations, this country will have no voice in deciding international questions. The United States also will be treated as an outsider by the nations that are members of the league.

The fact that this country would not be a member of the league of nations would not prevent the league from proceeding against the United States if the United States attempted to violate the sovereignty of another nation.

The league covenant is designed to prevent war, not only between members of the league, but between non-members, as well. It is designed to end the horror of war, at all places and at all times.

Article Seventeen of the league covenant provides for an invitation for arbitration to non-members when the latter are about to engage in war. If the parties to the dispute when so invited shall refuse to submit the matter to arbitration, "the council may take such measures as will prevent hostilities and will result in the settlement of the dispute."

Under the terms of the league covenant, a nation that refuses to submit to arbitration, but resorts to war instead, shall be deemed thereby to have committed an act of war against all members of the league of nations. The league members will immediately subject the warring nation "to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant-breaking state and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the league or not."

It is thus seen that if the United States intends to stay out of the league, if it refuses to recognize the principle of arbitration in international disputes, if it insists upon its right to make any kind of war it sees fit against other nations, then it will be necessary for this country to arm to the teeth, in order to be ready to fight the rest of the world. For a nation that refuses to arbitrate a dispute with another nation, but resorts to war, instead, will under the terms of the league covenant be regarded as having committed an act of war against all members of the league.

If the United States does not desire to enter the peaceful partnership of civilized nations, but wants isolation instead, it must make that isolation a formidable armed isolation—single-handed—upon the rest of the world or to be able to successfully resist the decisions of the league of nations rendered for the benefit of all.

VETERANS OF COUNTY WILL MEET SATURDAY

Pursuant to a call issued some time ago, the returned soldiers, sailors and marines of Pontotoc county will assemble in the Normal auditorium next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to organize a branch of the American Legion, the new order composed of those who participated in the Great War.

Only one branch of this order has thus far been formed in this county. The veterans of Roff and vicinity perfected their organization some weeks ago. It is now contemplated to extend the organization throughout the county, and it is for this purpose that the meeting of next Saturday morning has been called. Everyone who took a part in the great struggle should attend the meeting Saturday and enroll as a charter member of the county organization.

Bring in that picture and let me frame it for you.—C. A. Cummins.

Adoption of a National Highways Policy Likely

"THE adoption of a national highways policy by the United States Chamber of Commerce at its annual convention, coupled with recent announcements by Senator Penrose, the next chairman of the senate finance committee, and Senator Bankhead, retiring chairman of the senate committee on post offices and post roads, that they stand for national highways tremendously strengthened and probability of passage of the Townsend bill at the extra session of congress," says David Jameson, president of the American Automobile association.

"A national highway system can be kept within 3 per cent of the total mileage of highways in the United States and still serve our fundamental needs. To make this point clear it may safely be stated that a zone, ten miles in width and 75,000 miles in length, will reach more than 85 per cent of the population of the United States, more than 85 per cent of the taxable real estate and more than 55 per cent of the tonnage of farm products."

"Such a system would protect with an aggregate length of about 10,800 miles our Atlantic, Gulf, Mexican, Pacific and Canadian borders; would give access to our national forests, our national parks and open up much of the public domain not now easily accessible, and would afford trunk-line routes for parcel post in the territories where this form of transportation is most intensive in character."

He also says that if as a condition to the building of the national highways in each state a construction of an equivalent mileage of state highways should be required, this would add 75,000 miles of state highways.

This, with the national system, would aggregate 150,000 miles

"Kidron" Will Be Missed In Parade
Up the Avenue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—General Grant rode "Cincinnati," his favorite horse at the head of the great triumphal parade in Washington before President Lincoln in 1865. General Lee rode "Traveler" out among the men he told good bye after Appomattox, but General Pershing will not be able to ride "Kidron," the steed he rode on the battlefields of Europe, up Pennsylvania avenue in the big parade of the First division next week.

"Kidron" is back on American soil, but he is in quarantine under observations by government veterinarians at Newport News. The United States department of agriculture has denied an appeal that Pershing's favorite horse be released from quarantine so as to be ready for the parade.

In this ruling the department of agriculture adheres to the regulations which require that every horse must be quarantined for thirty days before and 150 days after leaving France. Thus "Kidron" although ridden by the greatest American general of the war meets the same fate as the private trooper's horse.

"Kidron" is in the best of condition, according to the reports from Newport News, but the horse experts of the United States department of agriculture say he would be an exceptionally dangerous horse to turn loose.

The private's horse is picked up at the front or at camp and is pretty carefully guarded from contagious diseases. But "Kidron" under his master's rein has covered a wider territory and so the horsemen say he may have touched noses with any number of French horses having any kind of contagious disease. Hence the department's refusal to create a favored status for him.

The principal reason why men do not like one another is because they do not know one another. If the labor forces of this country and their employers would only sit down on the curbstones together, whittle on a stick together, talk over their troubles and differences together, they would come to understand one another and settle their differences in a satisfactory way. There is a small element among the employers who believe in sweat-shop conditions and a small element among the labor people who injure their entire class by their radicalism. There is no use wasting breath talking to either class. But the large majority of both classes are reasonable people and if they could only be brought together in an honest conference, most of the problems that now distract us could be easily solved. This applies to the people of Ada as well as other people. There is no place here for class differences, and our people are mutts if they permit differences to continue that could be settled in an hour.

Major generals fleeing their districts; soldiers revelling on the spoils of a ruined peasantry; upstarts, enriched by the public plunder, taking possession of the hospitable firesides and hereditary trees of the old gentry; boys smashing the beautiful windows of cathedrals; Quakers riding naked thru the market-place; Fifth-monarchy men shouting for King Jesus; agitators lecturing from the tops of tubs on the fate of Agag! This description written a hundred years ago by MacAulay referred to the English Rebellion. It did not refer to conditions now existing in the United States. But even at that it is an apt description of present conditions. How many of us have heard the soap-boxer ascend his throne and lecture on the fate of Agag! History repeats itself from age to age and will continue to do so as long as man believes that he has an inherent right to make an ass of himself.

No industry of any importance is going into any town that does not have guaranteed a water supply sufficient to operate that industry. Ada has now reached the point in her development where she can no longer promise an industry an adequate water supply. The supply must be enlarged before we can talk business to any prospective industry. We now have the opportunity to so enlarge our water supply that for years to come we can go to any industry and promise them all the water they will need. If we enlarge the supply at this time, our troubles along the line indicated are terminated. If we fail to enlarge the water supply at this time, we stop the progress of the city for all time. Let us think about this before we come to vote on the water extension bonds next week.

After all the lambasting that the Daily Oklahoman has given the Oklahoma City police, and after all the ridicule it has heaped upon their inefficiency, and after all the sneers it has cast at the pea-green uniform of the mounted officials, it is most gratifying to learn that the police aforesaid have run down and captured a jack rabbit on Classen boulevard. "Truth crushed to earth will rise again," as was one time said by Al Jennings.

We are in receipt of a copy of the Idabel News, the daily paper recently established at the capital of McCurtain County. It is a creditable paper for Idabel and would be worthy of a much larger town. We notice that it carries the name of W. K. Barrett at the editorial masthead, which insures a readable paper every day. Much success to the Idabel News is the wish of the Ada News.

Every gubernatorial Caesar since statehood has had his statehouse Brutus. Haskell had his West, Cruce his "Howling Harry," Williams his Lyon and Robertson has his Carter. These Brutuses have strutted out their little day and will continue to strut away to the channel house of things that were. The political obstructionist like Baalim's ass lives only in the catalog of freaks.

The congressional opponents of the league would command the world's respect if they would only offer something as good. They would command the world's admiration if they would only offer something better. We favor the league because it is the only thing in sight. We would favor something just as good or better with alacrity.

The Evening News came out forty-nine minutes late Saturday afternoon. The force got into an argument as to who had the stronger pipe—Miles Grigsby or Luther Harrison. Hence the delay.

The State Press

Eufaula Indian Journal: Many a girl after visiting a drug store, appears in the pink of condition.

Chickasha Express: Honest, now, can you tell whether the hands will be set forward or turned back next month?

Eufaula Indian Journal: One scarcely knows whether to classify the actors' strike as tragedy, comedy, farce or vaudeville.

Shawnee News: And now the republican house of representatives has begun to censor the prayer of its blind chaplain. Next?

Tulsa World: "Mexican expedition a success," says the war department. To be sure. It went in and got back without fighting.

Oklahoma News: Fond memory of the ole swimmin' hole overlooks the little details of green scum on the water and the village garbage dump nearby.

Idabel News: And it has just about gotten so in this country that when a woman is dressed comfortably she thinks she is not fit to be seen.

Chickasha Express: One good way to get your mind muddled is to try to figure out whether the sun will rise earlier or later the next time they tinker with the clock.

Milburn News: Senator Knox says the treaty is too hard on Germany. Maybe Senator Knox would like us to send the kaiser a nice box of chocolate drops.

Tulsa World: A Paris youth hunted up the girl who had jilted him and emptied his six-gun into her. This is a slight reversal of form, but proves that the worm can turn.

Miami News: Before reopening the treaty to slip in a few reservations, it would be a good idea to scout around and learn how many jokers Heinie has ready for insertion.

Tishomingo Capital-Democrat: Well, Rube has on his civilian clothes. Where are all those fellows who were going to wallop hell out of him the minute he took off the uniform. We thought so.

Konawa Chief Leader: It is claimed that the butchers charge too much, but just think of all the automobiles they have to keep to supply people who are too proud to carry a pound of meat home.

Bokchito News: The merchants of Durant have proved to the county council of defense that they are not guilty of profiteering. And Bokchito merchants will do the same thing—when invited to do so.

Lawton Constitution: The young man who pays $3.00 for his ties, and $2.00 for his socks, and $1.50 for his handkerchiefs is sure hitting the high spots. And, in time, his wife will probably be hitting the wash tub.

Konawa Chief Leader: Some one asks us what has become of the kids that used to read those dime novels about pirates. Oh, well, they are grown up and reading the newspapers about profiteering. Same thing.

Okmulgee Democrat: Mexico regrets firing on airplane.—Press dispatch. Just to demonstrate the axiom that there is no effect without a cause, this country should lose no time in giving Mexico reason for her "regrets." We can accept her apology any time.

Shawnee News: Wilson has made a good start. Now if he will keep up his hard hitting the junket of republican senators may find a sure enough job in chasing over the country after him. But the man who has the first say has the best of it, especially when he impresses the people with the fact that he means every word he says.

Ardmoreite: The Shawnee Morning News recently moved into handsome new quarters, a remodeled dairy building now being occupied by our sprightly contemporary. The sign painter who got the commission to create an appropriate legend for the front of the new quarters evidently is a Mexican, or perhaps he is an Oklahoma banana industrialist, inasmuch as the sign "Climax Creamery" remains in evidence. Now, it is said, Brother Spaulding's editorial sanctum, which is on the ground floor near the front door, is invaded every day by indignant citizens who complain that their day's milk has not been delivered, that the butter should be labeled "1911" or sold in metallic caskets hermetically sealed, or that the half-pint of cream went awry when it was whipped for the icing. We are able to appreciate Brother Spaulding's chagrin, not to say his indignation or disgust, for we know that he knows what it means to deal with the complaint section of the circulation department of a newspaper, and surely it must be galling to have the circulation department of a creamery tell him all its troubles.

WASTE OF NATURAL GAS AFFECTS COST OF LIVING

The feature of the present cost of living investigation which have received the most publicity are food and clothing. It will be well not to forget that back of these and, in fact, of all manufactured articles and commodities, is the question of fuel. The part played by coal and oil is familiar enough, but that of natural gas is far less generally known.

The United States national museum at Washington has on exhibition a large model showing the occurrence, transportation, and use of natural gas in one of the gas-producing regions. This model, together with a bulletin of the museum entitled: "Natural Gas: Its Production, Service and Conservation," are intended to visualize the situation and suggest methods to prevent the enormous waste of this valuable resource.

Gas occurs in the earth where, in the process of following its natural tendency to rise, it has encountered a cap of impervious rock. Here it constitutes what is known as a pool and the porous rock containing it is termed gas sand. The unknown underground supplies of natural gas are found by drilling.

Deepest Gas Well.

The deepest gas well, and incidentally the deepest hole in the world, is one in West Virginia, which is about 7,000 feet deep, or a little over a mile and a quarter. Another hole even deeper than this is now being drilled in the same region in the hope of striking gas.

To protect the hole an iron pipe called a casing is driven down into the rock formation always found above the gas-bearing rock. A plugging device known as a packer is fastened in the casing or hole in the rock, immediately above the gas formation, and the gas by virtue of its inherent expansive tendency, then comes to the surface through tubing and forces itself into the transmission lines.

As the gas travels the pressure must drop and this necessitates the installation of gas compressors. When the gas reaches the distributing plant it passes into the medium pressure lines in the city, and the pressure is then reduced to the low pressure lines, where it travels through the service line, consumer's meter, and ultimately is burned at the consumer's fixtures.

Natural gas is found wherever oil occurs, but it can be used only in those fields which are close enough to populous centers to be available for piping. Of all the occurrences of natural gas, the only one meeting these requirements to any great extent is the so-called Appalachian field, including Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, eastern Indiana and the western parts of New York and Pennsylvania. Here it caters to the household needs of some 10,000,000 people and largely supplies the fuel for industrial purposes. It is, however, not confined to this region, for its advantages are felt throughout the country in the form of cheaper manufactured commodities, such as steel and glass, ware. As a community exhausts its supply of natural gas, it becomes necessary to substitute artificial gas. Artificial gas manufacture means burning coal, and another not inconsiderable demand is put on the already overburdened coal supply of the country. The high price of coal is due largely to the difficulty of mining and hauling enough to supply the enormous demand. As the demand exceeds the supply, so the price jumps, and every additional call on the supply tends to boost the price still higher. So it is to the interest of the entire country that the natural gas communities conserve their supply and release coal for use where there is no natural gas. This applies also to the great manufacturing plants of western Pennsylvania and Ohio, where natural gas is used to a large extent as fuel. It is their plain duty to use this fuel in the most economical and efficient manner possible in order to keep down the coal demand.

Rapidly Playing Out.

Thus it is significant that our natural gas supply is rapidly playing out, as shown by the fact that an average of around 15 towns are forced to turn to artificial gas every year. This early playing out of the available supply is due largely to wasteful practices—in fact, natural gas has earned the unenviable record of being at once the least appreciated and most abused of our natural resources.

The national museum exhibit shows graphically these wasteful practices, all of which may be traced in the last analysis to cheapness. They range in amount all the way from six-inch well holes, drilled for oil and left in disgust to blow off enough gas daily to serve whole towns, to the household who leaves jets burning all day because the gas is too cheap to make it worth while to turn it off.

The rude awakening comes when the supply gives out and the householder is forced to buy artificial gas at four or five times the cost—the sad experience of thousands every year. The museum exhibit and bulletin are intended to analyze these sources of waste and point to a remedy before it is too late.

In every 1,000 marriages performed in Great Britain 21 are first cousins. Among the nobility the rate is much higher, amounting to 45 in 1,000.

Good Law, for Germany.

The Delbrueck law, which became effective in Germany early in 1914, provides for Germans retaining their allegiance to Germany while becoming citizens of the United States or any other country. In assuming the new citizenship a German subject, if it suits him, continues his German citizenship and allegiance in Germany according to this law.

Next Sunday.

It is the purpose of the pastor of the Methodist Church to preach next Sunday morning from this text and theme: "Follow Me." The evening theme will be "The Life of Victory." We will also speak as usual to the Junior Congregation at the close of the Sunday School period. New members will be received into the church. Wallace M. Crutchfield, Pastor.

Methodist Choir Practice.

The Choir of the First Methodist Church will meet for rehearsal this evening at 8:30. All who are willing to help with the musical work of the congregation are urged to be on hand. This includes those who formerly have sung in our choir and any new members or friends who will be gracious enough to add their voices to our choral organization. Wallace M. Crutchfield, Pastor.

Uses for Tea Leaves.

Tea leaves are often used to dampen carpets, but they should not be too wet or left lying about long, or the color may come out of the carpet. Tea leaves, however, are valuable for various other purposes. Store them for three or four days, soak them in a pail for about an hour, then strain off the water, which is an excellent wash for all varnished paints and makes them look equal to new.

NEW DEFINITION OF HATE.

View From High Points.

At mountain stations, where one is above the greater part of the lower, dust-laden layers of the atmosphere, more stars are visible than at sea level. Some recent observations at Mt. Wilson by Van der Bilt show that the limit of unaided vision there, without even the aid of screens to shut off the light of the sky, is at about the seventh magnitude—that is, the faintest stars that can be seen on the mountain are two and one-half times brighter than can be seen at sea level.

Origin of Blackguards.

The original "blackguard," or more properly "black guard," consisted of the whole body of the camp followers of an army in the field during the wars of the middle ages. Many of them had to do with food and cooking, and so they traveled with their pots, pans and other kitchen utensils, and as, moreover, to wash while on the march, was a difficult matter, it is easy to see how applicable the term became to these. They were a dirty lot and most of them thorough ruffians.

FOUND: THE LOST ART OF MAKING DOUGHNUTS

"The culinary art of making doughnuts is no longer a lost art, for the women of Ada are bringing in pans full of doughnuts, crispy, brown doughnuts, and perfectly delicious ones." So says Mrs. Tom Hope, who has charge of the cooking department of the S. A. drive.

Numbers of women have said that they had not made any doughnuts for years, until this "doughnut epidemic" swept the city, but many of them are digging up their old recipes, and turning out delicious doughnuts with skillful hands.

This is just one more instance of women rising to meet the issue, just as they did in time of war, and just as they have from time immemorial.

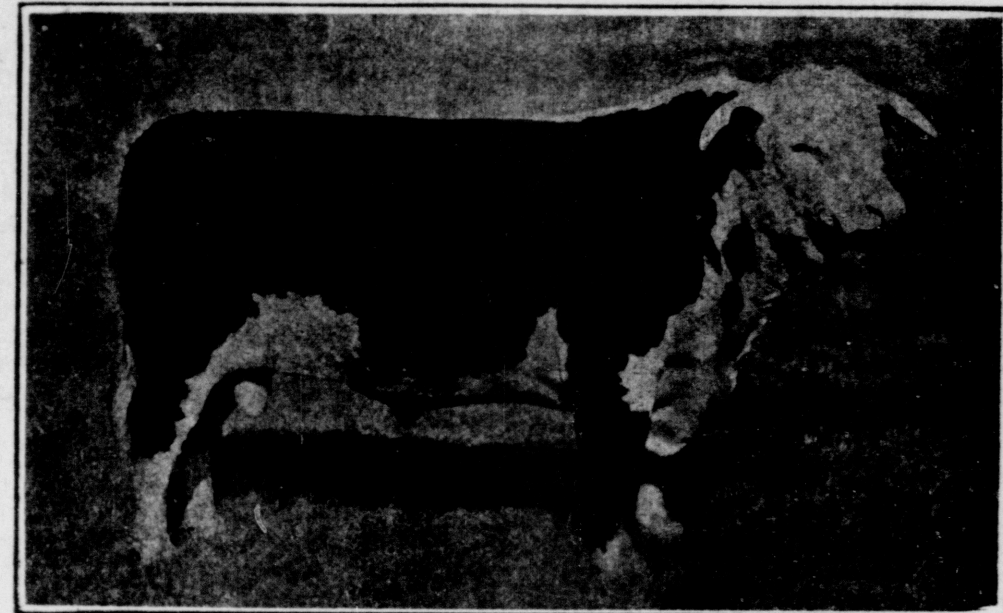

It goes without saying that the sugar shortage and the high price of cooking oils have made doughnuts a very impracticable food for some time past. But most every housewife can afford to make a few dozen at this particular time when they are to bring funds to be used for a good cause.

Mrs. Hope says the women of Ada have responded beautifully to the call for doughnuts, yesterday and today, but there are still two more days of this drive, and an urgent call is being made to every housewife, who has not yet gone "nutty" to do so at once, by joining the "nut brigade" from your home to the Hope-Conn Drug Store with a basket or pail of doughnuts, for Friday and Saturday, in order to go over the top in this Salvation Army Drive.

It is believed the Nile contains a greater variety of fish than any other river in the world. An expedition sent by the British museum brought back 8,000 specimens.

ROCKS AHEAD.

The county's going to the deuce, and anarchy is breaking loose. Whichever way we chance to turn we find new ills and threats to burn, and if you throw a brick, by heck, you hit a crisis in the neck. We hear such bunk and bushels more, each morning in the soft drinks store, where all the graybeards congregate to mourn the sinking ship of state. Cheer up! We heard the same old gag before this country had a flag. We heard it, or our fathers did, ere Bill Tell shot at Gessler's lid. They used to hear the Romans' hope. And Noah heard it when he sailed, that time the drouth predictions failed. "Our garden's going to the dogs," cried Adam, when he chased the hogs, which had destroyed, with tooth and tush, the rhubarb and the currant bush. Our distant prehistoric sires, who had no chairs or comfy fires, but had to roost around on trees, were guilty of the same old wheeze. There a ways will be rocks ahead, and goblins dire and bogies dread, but our old ship of state will glide to safety on the further side. So let's forget our doubts and fears, and order four denatured beers.

BORDER TROUBLE DUE TO INDIFFERENCE

By News' Special Service

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 10.—That Texas people can blame themselves largely for the present unsettled conditions around the Mexican border because of "their indifferent attitude toward the Mexicans" is the belief of Miss Caroline D. Smith, who has resided for many years in Laredo. Miss Smith is secretary of foreign community work in the Southwestern field of the Young Women's Christian Association and is in Dallas attending the staff conference of secretaries being held at Bachman's Dam.

Miss Smith has made a special study of the Mexican problem during her residence in Laredo and in connection with her social service work with the international institute at San Antonio.

"American people residing near the border have a better understanding of the Mexican situation than persons living in more northern sections of the state," she said. "They also have a more wholesome respect for the Mexicans as a race. This is due to the fact that the class of Mexicans one meets near the border is of a higher type morally and socially than those who migrate far into the state."

"The Mexicans as a whole are very sensitive and are not a little plucked at the attitude of aloofness the Americans have toward them. To know the better type of Mexicans is to love them as friends. If the people of this state generally would adopt an attitude and policy of friendliness and hospitality toward the Mexicans the Mexican problem which now harasses us would be greatly simplified. We should interest ourselves in the habits and welfare of our Mexican neighbors and we would find them very responsive to our solicitude."

"Opposes Intervention. This policy, it seems to me, would be much more preferable and productive of wholesome results than armed intervention, which is being advocated in some quarters. Eventually I do not believe intervention will be necessary. This is merely my personal opinion, as my connection with the Y. W. C. A. would prohibit my expressing any view on the matter from a political standpoint."

"In San Antonio I observed many instances of real friendship between Mexicans and Americans. If it were possible in a few instances it should be possible on a larger scale. "It is my belief that a very small percentage of the Mexican population is responsible for the border troubles and that the Mexicans are suffering far more thereby than are the Texans. The Mexican people are upset by constant changes in policies of their government, causing a general unrest for which they are not altogether responsible. The depreciations which we read about as occurring on the border are largely the work of brigands, which know no restraint of law or order."

Miss Smith described in detail the work being accomplished by the institute. She told of the efforts to inculcate the Mexican children with American ideals of education and proper living. The plan is not so much to Americanize the Mexicans as to enable them to Americanize themselves, she said.

Miss Smith holds the same position with the Y. W. C. A. in San Antonio as Miss Vera L. Sturges in Dallas and has been engaged in Y. W. C. A. work for many years. She will leave tonight for San Antonio and shortly she will make a tour through Northern Mexico.

The habit of "putting it off" has caused the loss of many lives. A dose of Prickly Ash Bitters at the first sign of indigestion, constipation and kidney trouble wards off sickness and saves money. Price $1.25 per bottle.—Gwin & Mays Drug Co., Special Agents. adv

Prussian Railway Man Paints Very Gloomy Picture

By the Associated Press

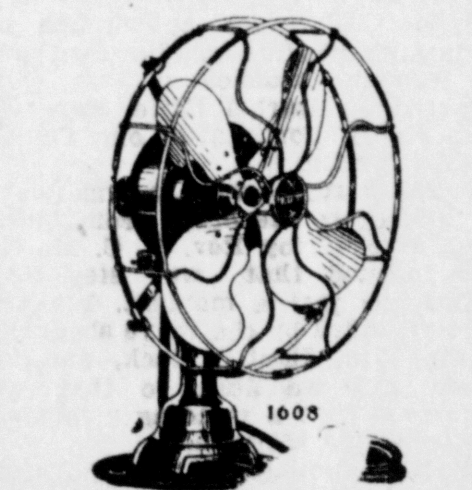

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—(By mail.)—Herr Beser, the Prussian Railway Minister, in a statement to the members of the Berlin Chamber of Commerce paints a gloomy picture of affairs on state railways. Every day, he said, a subsidy of 10,000,000 marks is required from the treasury. Passenger traffic at present amounts to only fifteen per cent of normal, he said, and express service has dropped to four per cent. Higher tariffs for goods and passengers are believed inevitable.

The continuous strike and coal shortage are responsible for these conditions, according to the minister, who says that apart from the severe traffic restrictions which have already been enforced, very far reaching stipulations for the winter are unavoidable and the German coal industry must be put on a new footing. If possible, the use of coal in its present form, whereby the greater part of the heating units pass up the chimney, must be prohibited by law.

Owing to the shortage of fuel, German industries, it is said, are also interfered with, because they are unable to keep promises regarding time of delivery. Private locomotive enterprises, the official declares, are doing even worse than the state services. If possible, he adds, the waterways must be employed for purposes of transportation.

WHAT MINNESOTANS LEARNED FROM WILSON

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 10.—In his address here President Wilson said:

"We must realize in this broad country of ours the fact that the world is in revolution. I do not mean in active revolution. I mean that it is in a state of mind that brings about the dissolution of government if we do not bring about a world settlement."

"The great peoples of the world have been asleep, but God knows the other nations have not been asleep. There was no place in the world where they dared to speak out, and now the catastrophe has come. Blood has been spilled in rivers and nations have been destroyed and they made up their minds that rather than have this happen again if the governments cannot get together they will destroy the governments."

"But in the meantime look at the things that are happening. There isn't a day goes by that my heart isn't heavy to think of the things the people of Russia are doing. They are without form and order and the danger is to the world. We must absolutely look to it that in this country that form of government of a minority of men shall not be set up here and elsewhere."

"We have either go to be provincial or statesmen. We have either got to be ostriches or eagles. The ostrich is being overdone all around. I see gentlemen bury their heads in something and think that nobody sees that they have submerged their thinking apparatus. That is what I mean by being an ostrich. Now what I mean by being an eagle—I needn't describe it. I mean leaving the mists lying close to the ground, getting upon strong wings, into those spaces where you can see all the affairs of mankind, all the affairs of America, seeing about how the world appears."

Everybody's Business.

"This is an effective covenant. It is carried out by the attitude of the Irishman who went into one of those antique institutions known as the saloon and saw two men fighting in the corner. He went to the bartender and said 'Is this a private fight or can anybody get in?' In the true Irish spirit we are abolishing private fighting and making a law of mankind that it is everybody's business and everybody can get in, and consequently there will be no attempts at private fighting."

"The treaty provides that every secret treaty shall be invalid. One of the difficulties in framing this treaty was the fact that after we got over there private secret treaties were springing up on all sides like a noxious growth. You had to guard your breathing apparatus against the miasma that rose from it."

World Has Got Religion.

"But they were treaties and the war had been fought on the principle of the sacredness of treaties. We could not propose that solemn obligations, however unwisely undertaken, should be disregarded, but we could do the best was possible in the presence of those understandings and then make no more secret understandings."

"The representation of every great nation in the world assented without demur, without the slightest difficulty. I do not think you realize what a change of mind has come over the world. As we used to say in the old days, some men that never got it before, have got religion."

No Worms in a Healthy Child.

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

ARKANSAS COUNTY BUILDING ROADS

By News' Special Service

ROGERS, Ark., Sept. 10.—Contract for 4 1/2 miles hard surface highway running southwest across Benton county from the Missouri state line to Washington county was awarded by the commissioners of Road District No. 2 today to Burham and Zino of Oklahoma City at a bid of $207,000.

This is the second road contract awarded in this county in two weeks, the first calling for $700,000 worth of roads in district No. 3 approximating 100 miles. Two other districts will award contracts soon bringing the total road investment of the county to beyond the million dollar mark.

Tomorrow Will Tell

Everybody knows who's space this upper left corner belongs to

You May Not Find This Space Tomorrow

—But let every man, woman, boy and girl buy a paper tomorrow, take it home—do like above illustration.

—It's a lengthy article, so gather your patience, make yourself comfortable, then determine to read every word of our announcement.

YOU CAN'T MISS IT

Doughnutty Nuts

In the drive for doughnut dollars yesterday Team No. 1 was true to number and won first honors. Teams No. 2 and 3 swapped honors, No. 3 going to second place and No. 2 going to third place.

Individual members of the teams ranked as follows: 1st, Annie Carroll Simpson; 2nd, Gladys Rawls; 3rd, Ruby West. The figures will be given in tomorrow's News.

The total subscription for yesterday was $511.00. This leaves practically $2,500 to be raised on the county's quota of $3,000. Pontotoc county has never failed to go over the top and will not fail in this campaign, but all workers are going to have to hustle.

The Guaranty State Bank maintained its reputation of being the biggest little bank in Oklahoma when it got busy this morning and paid $50.00 for one doughnut. May its tribe increase.

He was a poor old man, weak and tottering, and the doughnut girl did not have the heart to ask him for a dollar. She was looking for those sufficiently prosperous to pay a dollar for a doughnut, and feared to hurt the old man's feelings by asking him to buy. But when he saw others buying he approached the girl, fumbled in his pockets, and brought out all the money he had—thirty cents.

"But I do not want to take your money," said the doughnut girl. "It would not be right for me to take it."

"You must take it," insisted the old man. "My grandson was killed in France, and the Salvation Army did so much for him before he died that I cannot sleep tonight unless you take this money. It is all I have, but it belongs to the Salvation Army."

Red Cross Here Interested in Our Soldiers

The local chapter of the Red Cross here is doing all it possibly can for the returned soldiers of this section. Mrs. Orville Snead, secretary of the Ada Chapter, in talking to a News representative yesterday said:

"The Vocational Rehabilitation Law, an act of July 11, 1919, makes it not only possible but very inviting for all boys who were disabled in the war to qualify themselves for even better positions than before they went into the service."

"A young man without dependents will receive $80.00 per month while training. If he has a wife, $25.00 extra, and children will be paid the same as the government allowance while the soldier was in service."

"Two of our boys have made final arrangements and will leave at once, one for the Davis Rankin Trade School at St. Louis for mechanical drawing, and one to Arlington, Tex., for scientific farming and stock raising courses. The latter will be sent to the A. & M. College at Stillwater next year."

"There are others who are interested and still others who we are trying to interest. We feel that this is an opportunity which the boys cannot afford to miss."

"If there are boys who are disabled, whom we have not seen, even though they are not interested at this time they are asked to call at Red Cross headquarters and talk the matter over. We did what we could for the boys 'over there,' and we want to continue our service by seeing that they get all that is coming to them 'over here.'" to the announcement of the fair management. Every returned soldier, sailor or marine in the county is cordially invited to attend the fair on that day.

FRIDAY "ADA DAY" AT COUNTY FAIR

Inasmuch as the returned veterans of the county are to meet in Ada Saturday morning to organize the American Legion for this county, it is probable that a large number will be here on that day and it is the hope of the fair management that all of them will spend a part of the day at the fair grounds.

Member of News Staff Sees Most Unique Wedding

What had every appearance of being a clandestine wedding, without any spoken evidence of that fact, occurred in Burk's Style Shop on Main Street shortly after one o'clock this afternoon.

A News representative was making it back to the office from lunch when accosted by Rev. C. C. Morris who insisted that we step into Burk's for just a moment. We did as commanded by the suave shepherd of the First Baptist flock, and no sooner had we done so than we discovered that a wedding ceremony was to be the program.

Bashful and modest, yet cultured and refined, the young couple had apparently gone into Burk's for a trousseau—and for information. The husband-to-be inquired where marriage licenses could be secured. Mr. Burk not only told him where they could be had at the same old price, but went along to see that he actually got the license. Meanwhile the beautiful young bride-to-be made purchases for a wardrobe fit for a queen.

Before the preacher could proceed the young man insisted that the witnesses and all that had rendered assistance have the drinks, and they did as he bade them. After the ceremony the minister said the drinks were on him, and there was more drinking—coca cola, of course.

The reporter learned that the contracting parties were Mr. Lewis Bruno of Denison, Texas, and Miss Verna Atkinson of Roff. We also learned that the happy little couple were going to catch the 1:55 Frisco train for Roff, the home of the bride, but we feel like kicking ourselves for not finding out whether or not it was a runaway match.

It is estimated that the Mississippi River has added twelve hundred square miles to the land area of the North American continent by its deposits.

Women's Smart Apparel for Fall

Autumn Suits

Follow Two New Silhouettes

There are suits which fall straight from the shoulder—unbroken in line by a narrow belt at the waist-line—and suits which, though straight in back and front, have the new fullness at the hips. Lengths are varied with a tendency to knee-length. Collars are as new as one could wish. Materials and colorings are soft and warm and wintry.

Prices $25 to $100

Ladies' Waists

This season the blouse has won a new place for itself in the fashionable woman's attire. No longer is it a subsidiary element in relation to the suit. It occupies a position all its own. The suit coat may be dispensed with and the blouse takes the place of honor at tea, luncheon or the matinee. There are exquisite new models of Georgette daintily beaded or hand embroidered and others finely hand made and lace trimmed. Infinite is the variety in style and material of the slip-overs which are the making of a pretty costume for informal wear.

LADIES' FALL HATS

Smart little turbans and sailors that are so trig with a veil for wear on the street and in the motor, irregular brimmed large hats and youthful mushrooms demure with ostrich fancies and rich ornaments of flowers and ribbon—all are on display in our Millinery Section. So great is the variety that you are sure to obtain millinery that is smart and wholly becoming.

Prices $5 to $35

The Dresses for Fall

Serge, Satin, Tricotine, Wool Jersey and Tricolette are all extensively used for Fall Dresses. Delightfully trimmed with braid, fringe and embroidery, they are very becoming in the soft Autumn shades.

Prices $15 to $100

Specially Noteworthy The First Coats of Fall for Women and Misses

New lines, new designs, new colors. The Dolman and Cape of last season have given way to a new wrap. It's a much more beautiful coat than the coats of old, even if it's just a simple affair with a raglan or set-in sleeve made on long, straight lines without or with belt.

Very luxurious, indeed, are the most elaborate coats with countless innovations of sleeve and shoulder line, many fur trimmed with the choicest pelts and others showing an accentuation of embroidery. Soft and wintry are the materials like wool duvetyne and silver-tone promising warmth and beauty. And the colorings make the most of all the new browns and other seasonable shades.

The Prescription

—The drug store was originally built for the purpose of filling prescriptions, compounding drugs, grinding roots and herbs, making tinctures and fluid extracts, etc. But these things are all now done by large pharmaceutical houses—except the filling of prescriptions from the things we buy from these large pharmaceutical and chemical companies.

Filling Prescriptions

—is now our main thought and action. We buy our tinctures, fluid extracts and drugs from only the most reputable houses. Try us for prescriptions.
